Tempers flare over future use for community facility

By George Welch

AN unused council-owned facility will remain vacant for more than a year while the authority decides what to do with it.

Organisations are being encouraged to present business ideas to take over an area of Willowbrook Leisure Centre previously used by a pre-school.

Didcot town councillors discussed how best to bring the empty area back into use at an extraordinary meeting at the Civic Hall on Monday evening.

The site has remained unused since The Willows playgroup vacated the building in January, having operated and paid nominal rent there since the opening of the centre in 2002.

The council has so far received a 'firm' offer from SOLL Leisure, which runs the leisure centre. It wants to reconfigure the whole building.

Expressions of interest have also been conveyed by youth worker charity TRAIN and food surplus organisation SOFEA, with an as yet unnamed fourth party also potentially in the running.

The authority has set a deadline of December 31 for interested parties to make their case for the site, which could still be community owned.

Councillors clashed on whether the space should be used by a single organisation or run by volunteers for the community.

Ladygrove ward councillor Simon Hewerdine said: "What we are talking about here is about the community, not a particular group. There are many possible interested parties but the decision is whether we should be effectively disposing of this community space for use by a sole occupant.

"This isn't a space to be dedicated to one particular body, surely it should be made available to the broadest community users?

"My concern is that it gets remodelled into some kind of fitness suite that will never be available to be put back into community use."

However, Bill Service, the leader of the council, pointed to development projects to the north east of the town, which would include at least two community halls.

He said Ladygrove already has a community hall at All Saints School and that South Oxfordshire District Council runs Great Western Park's community hub due to difficulties in recruiting volunteers to take charge.

Councillor Steve Connel said the council shouldn't be rushed into making a decision on the facility's future.

He said proposals needed to be analysed on their merit and that more groups could come forward, adding: "We need to have all the facts before we can make any decision, especially with something this important."

Twinning trip is a winning trip for all

Didcot and Planegg twinning members at the Memorial Gardens at Didcot Civic Hall

DIDCOT town twinners made new friends for life when they welcomed visitors from a Bavarian town into their homes.

A party of 16 from German twinned town Planegg were shown the best Oxfordshire has to offer by their Didcot hosts.

The fun included a Morse walking tour of Oxford, a visit from a Bicester fire crew and a trip to Basildon Park.

There were also excursions further afield to London for some of the hardier sightseers of the group, who visited for a long weekend from October 5.

The glad rags were out as everyone – English and German – enjoyed a gala dinner at The Bear, North Moreton on the final night. The German touristen returned to Munich the following afternoon.

A Didcot group will travel to Planegg for a return visit in 2019.

Lorry driver charged after A34 crash passenger dies

By Eva Astreinidou

A LORRY driver has appeared in court charged with causing the death of a man by dangerous driving.

Plamen Atanasov, 48, of Violet Road, Southampton, was charged with causing death by dangerous driving and serious injury by dangerous driving after a collision between a lorry and a van on the A34 northbound near Abingdon on Thursday morning last week.

Thames Valley Police confirmed on Friday that 33-year-old Ian Messenger, a passenger in the van, passed away at the John Radcliffe Hospital.

His next of kin have been informed.

The driver of the van, 64-year-old Barry Smith, suffered a serious injury which is not believed to be life threatening.

Atanasov was remanded in custody and appeared at Oxford Magistrates' Court on Friday.

He will remain in custody and will appear at Oxford Crown Court on November 10.

Part of the northbound road remained closed between Marcham and Milton interchanges for much of the morning.

A spokesperson for TVP said officers were called just after 5.30am to reports of a two-vehicle road traffic collision involving a van and a lorry.

Police have asked anyone with information about the crash to call 101 quoting reference 115 12/10/17.

Youngsters get to the heart of lifesaving

PLASTIC dummies and paramedics were deployed across schools and colleges in Oxfordshire to teach students how to become lifesavers.

A nationwide event organised by the British Heart Foundation was held on Monday to teach children and teenagers how to restart a heart and to highlight the dangers of experiencing an out-of-hospital cardiac arrest.

Pupils from Wallingford School, pictured, were just some of those who participated, welcoming training staff from South Central Ambulance Service who taught pupils how to resuscitate a heart using plastic dolls.

According to BHF, only one in 10 people survive an out-of-hospital cardiac arrest in the UK.

She appeared at Oxford Crown Court on Friday and has been remanded in custody to appear at the same court on February 23.

Jackson's trial has been provisionally fixed for April 9 and is expected to last two weeks.

Officers found Tyler dead at the Bromsgrove Cottages property with stab wounds on March 14.

A post-mortem examination revealed the schoolboy's cause of death to be stab wounds to the chest.

Drugs offences

A MAN has been charged with conspiracy to supply drugs.

All change for county boundaries?

THOUSANDS of Oxfordshire voters could be moved into different constituencies following the publication of potential new parliamentary boundaries.

The Boundary Commission for England (BCE) unveiled the plans as it opened its third and final consultation on Tuesday.

One of the bigger possible changes in the county would see Marcham, Drayton, Milton and other villages in that area plucked from Conservative Wantage and dropped into Liberal Democrat controlled Oxford West and Abingdon, which would be renamed Abingdon and Oxford North.

The latest update from the BCE also confirms a bid to rename Ed Vaizey's Wantage constituency to include Didcot has been rejected.

Here's what the latest proposals would mean for Oxfordshire:

- The county would keep its six MPs
- Three constituencies would be renamed: John Howell's Henley would become East Oxfordshire; Layla Moran's Oxford West and Abingdon would be rebranded as Abingdon and Oxford North; Oxford East, represented by Labour's Anneliese Dodds, would be changed to Oxford
- Wantage would not be renamed to accommodate Didcot
- Banbury would lose the biggest chunk of electorate, 85,398 down to 78,250
- Wantage would lose more than 4,000 voters while what is currently Oxford West and Abingdon would lose nearly 1,000. East Oxfordshire (currently Henley) would increase by nearly 6,000 while Oxford (currently Oxford East) would welcome nearly 7,000 more voters
- Marcham, Drayton, Milton would cross from Wantage into Abingdon and North Oxford
- Having previously covered as far south as Muswell Hill and east to Water Stratford, near Buckingham, the Banbury constituency would cradle Bicester but go no further and be cut off eastwards at Hethe Brede
- Oxford would be expanded west to include Botley Road, Jericho and Port Meadow
- Robert Courts' Witney would remain unchanged.

The potential revamp comes following a decision by Parliament to reduce the number of constituencies in the UK from 650 to 600.

All constituencies should fall between no fewer than 71,031 and no more than 78,507 voters.

Voters have until December 11 to comment on the proposals.

The commission will make its final recommendations to Parliament in September next year.

You can see an interactive map and have your say on proposals at boundarycommissionforengland.independent.gov.uk

More women say MeToo to sexual harassment

WOMEN from Oxfordshire joined a worldwide campaign on social media highlighting sexual harassment and its 'constant presence in women's lives'.

Joining in the campaign titled #MeToo, Oxford city councillor Ruthi Brandt said it is 'high time' that the regular occurrence of sexual harassment is highlighted.

She said: "I think society doesn't acknowledge how prevalent sexual harassment and sexual attacks really are. So it is very powerful, and sad, to see tweets and facebook statuses with the MeToo hashtag."

Oxford West and Abingdon MP Layla Moran also gave her support, saying: "We need all stories of even casual harassment to come out and face the scale of the problem."

The MeToo campaign comes in the wake of the scandal involving Hollywood mogul Harvey Weinstein in which more than 30 women have made allegations of sexual harassment, including rape.

Empowering girls to be the leaders of tomorrow

WHILE superstar Beyoncé released a video encouraging action to fight challenges girls around the world face, a Didcot school welcomed speakers from across the country to share their message of female empowerment.

International Day of the Girl is celebrated annually on October 11 to highlight issues concerning the gender inequality facing young girls.

Speakers from Bristol, London and Birmingham gathered at Great Western Park's Aureus School to talk about how to make more girls the leaders of the future.

Headteacher Hannah Wilson, also a co-founder of #WomenEd, a grassroots gender equality movement, said the event "was thought-provoking from the start to the finish".

She added: "We were delighted to have a diverse line up of speakers, including students from Didcot Girls' School who reflected on being girl leaders as house captains.

"The themes that were explored and developed throughout the event really resonated with the audience which included teachers, school leaders, governors and parents.

"We know there is a lack of representation in women leaders in the world, we hope that events like this will enable to us to break down some of these barriers for the girls in our schools to enable them to be the leaders of tomorrow."

House captains from Didcot Girls' School shared thoughts on leadership culture

'There are better sites for quarry'

By Eva Astreinidou

OXFORDSHIRE does not need a new quarry – that's the simple message from campaigners as the proposal is set to undergo further consultation.

Plans for a sand and gravel quarry near Clifton Hampden have been met with numerous objections and been subject to several alterations.

Developer Hills is now asking for views from the public on more changes, which include the removal of a concrete plant.

But campaign group BACHPORT – Burcot and Clifton Hampden for the protection of the River Thames – says it still strongly objects to the plans.

It said: "The quarry will have an unacceptable impact on a beautiful section of the River Thames within the Oxford Green Belt. It will increase traffic on roads that are already heavily overloaded. Better alternative sites with limited impact on the landscape, and with better access to the road network are available."

The group maintains South Oxfordshire District Council is also strongly objecting, and has safeguarded a substantial part of the site for a new road and river crossing linking Didcot to Oxford.

It added: "[We] note that the concrete plant has been removed in the most recent consultation proposals. But the fact that the proposed area for the plant site remains on the plans suggests the applicant intends to get around green belt restrictions and reinstate the plant at some point in the future.

"Oxfordshire does not need a new quarry."

The group has previously raised concerns over loss of agricultural land, visually intrusive plans, the removal of trees and species-rich hedgerow, as well as fears over traffic through Abingdon and the A415 through the village.

Long Wittenham Parish Council has also previously objected to the proposals. In April, members agreed the quarry would have a serious impact on the local environment and the quality of life of hundreds of residents for many years to come.

A spokesperson for Hills said: "All points of concerns raised by the planning authority and statutory consultees in relation to our application have now been addressed and we look forward to confirmation on when it will be considered by the county's planning committee."

Victim praised as abuser jailed

Man admitted assault, criminal damage and arson on Valentine's Day

By Eva Astreinidou

AN 'abusive' man who repeatedly assaulted a woman and set her clothes on fire has been handed a prison sentence of over two years.

Robert Brewerton, 39, of Willow Brook, Abingdon, was sentenced to two years and six months on October 5 after subjecting his victim to a 'long and frightening ordeal'.

He pleaded guilty during the second day of his trial at Oxford Crown Court to two counts of criminal damage, one count of arson, one count of fraud by false representation and two counts of actual bodily harm in August.

Between February 13 and 14 Brewerton went to a house in Hermitage Road, Abingdon, belonging to the victim, who was known to him.

He kicked the door open, forcing his way in.

He refused to leave and repeatedly assaulted the victim during the evening.

In the early hours of the morning on February 14, Brewerton left the address for a short time, taking the victim's credit card before withdrawing £250 cash without her permission.

He then returned to the address and caused further damage to the property by removing the smoke alarms in the house.

He further assaulted the victim and then set her clothes on fire resulting in burns to her chin.

He attempted to set fire to a number of items within the property.

He was arrested on February 15 after the victim contacted police.

Detective Constable Shannon Smith, from the domestic abuse investigation unit, said: "This was a complex investigation into an abusive relationship and the victim's courage to approach police should be noted."

Robert Brewerton has been jailed for two and a half years

Have your say on planning proposals for the future

RESIDENTS have a little over a month to have their say on which developments are built in their area over the coming decades.

Both South Oxfordshire and Vale of White Horse district councils published the final versions of their local plans last week.

The authorities have now launched a final six-week consultation period before the plans are submitted to the government.

The local plans document where thousands of new homes may be built in addition to new roads, workplaces and other infrastructure needed to support them.

Any comments made at this stage will be seen by the planning inspector when they receive the plans.

Councillor John Cotton, leader of SODC, said: "It's a challenge to find appropriate locations for thousands of houses in a rural district, but we firmly believe the plan we've created deals with the need for housing in our area in a positive way, and it will help us deliver the infrastructure the district needs right now and to support future generations."

Councillor Roger Cox, cabinet member for planning at the Vale, added: "I'd strongly encourage anybody who wants the planning inspector to read their comments to do so now."

A series of drop-in events will be held across the two districts.

South drop-ins: Culham, primary school – October 19, 4pm – 8pm; Henley, town hall – October 21, 10am – 2pm; Chalgrove, village hall – October 23, 4pm – 8pm; Didcot, Cornerstone – October 31, 3pm – 7pm; Berinsfield, Church Hall – November 7, 3pm – 7pm; Wheatley, The Merry Bells Village Hall – November 9, 3pm – 7pm; Thame, town hall – November 13, 3pm – 7pm; Chalgrove, village hall – November 17, 3pm – 7pm

Vale exhibitions (all 4pm-6.30pm) followed by public meetings (7pm-8.30pm): Abingdon and Witney College, Abingdon Campus – November 6; Faringdon, Corn Exchange – November 14; Harwell, Village Hall – November 15.

Inquest opens on man found in woods

A MAN who had been missing for several days was found hanging in woodland.

The inquest into the death of Matthew Wilson, 25, from Abingdon, was opened at Oxford Coroner's Court on Wednesday last week.

The court heard how police received a report from a member of the public of a body found hanging in woodland near Radley, by the River Thames path, on September 30.

His body was identified by a police officer who attended the scene.

Mr Wilson had been reported missing two days prior to his body being found, with police appealing for information from the public to help find him.

A post-mortem examination ruled the cause of death as hanging.

The full inquest will take place on January 18.

Cinema at Unicorn

A MUCH-NEEDED cinema will be opening its doors in Abingdon just in time for the winter season.

The Friends of Abingdon announced they are working with an independent cinema to temporarily screen films in the Unicorn Theatre, in the Abbey buildings.

The first screenings at the theatre, which has just 92 seats, will begin next month and will include new film releases.

Adding the 'x factor' to literary festival

Dermot O'Leary and Mary Berry were just two of the stars entertaining audiences

QUEEN of cakes Mary Berry and X Factor presenter Dermot O'Leary were among the well-known personalities in Henley to celebrate literature.

The town's annual literary festival earlier this month hosted over 150 talks, Q&As, workshops and performances for adults and children.

The impressive line-up featured speakers from politics, entertainment, sport and more including cricketer Phil Tufnell, presenter June Sarpong and politician Chris Patten, alongside bestselling novelists Paula Hawkins, Roddy Doyle, Katie Fforde, Michael Morpurgo and Joanne Harris.

Family events included actor Alison Steadman and Radio 1's Greg James with their first children's books, award-winning authors and illustrators Rob Biddulph and Steve Antony, and Clare Balding.

Russell Brand was also due to appear but was rescheduled to speak at a sold-out event later this month on October 26.

Transport chiefs share their plans with footfall

Centre 'will be good for all retailers'

BUSINESSES preparing to welcome their first customers to the new Westgate Centre won't be the only city firms to benefit when the shopping complex opens next week.

Oxford City Council's head of communications Mish Tullar said the centre's arrival would have a positive impact on businesses across the city.

He said: "It's difficult to think of what the most recent development of this significance would have been for the city – it's a very exciting, new venture for the city.

"The most recent experience of a major city building a big new shopping centre in its centre was the Trinity Centre in Leeds in 2014.

"Contrary to concerns that it might take shoppers away from the surrounding shopping streets it actually increased footfall by five per cent in surrounding streets."

He added: "With all the new visitors coming into Oxford with the experience being promoted as a day out [these other shops] are only 200 metres away from Westgate and there should be many more people attracted to places like the Covered Market."

Less than half of the units at Westgate will be open on launch day, although a 'phased retailer opening' was always expected.

Only 60 of 125 units will open for trade on Tuesday and this is expected to rise to 90 by Christmas.

The Westgate management team say this isn't unusual for a large shopping centre.

The county council's director of infrastructure delivery has urged people to 'make smart choices' on travel, amid fears of extra congestion and more visitors to the city centre once the Westgate centre opens.

Owen Jenkins said: "There's going to be an element of disruption with the opening because there's going to be a lot more footfall and visitors to the city.

"There's no getting away from the fact that there will be increased pressure on the transport infrastructure.

"Our main message is for people to come in, enjoy the new facilities but also to make smart choices on travel."

Chic cinema and crazy golf add to centre's attractions

FROM a day out with family or friends to a unique date night, the Westgate shopping centre is about more than just shopping.

The shopping centre, set to open its doors on Tuesday, will boast 125 retail and food outlets but will also include a crazy golf course and a five-screen cinema.

Junkyard Golf, an 'alternative' nine-hole crazy golf course spanning over 10,000 sq ft, will be stocked with bars and quirky junk.

According to Chris Legh, one of the founders of the Junkyard Golf Club, the site will make shoppers experience golf "in a hole new way".

He said: "Junkyard is a completely different kind of night out and we can't wait to bring it to the brand new Westgate.

"It's the ideal venue for us and our location as the anchor of the Westgate social positions us alongside some of the most exciting new food outlets in the UK.

"With over 10,000 sq foot to play with, look out for reclaimed and re-purposed installations, slides, vintage cars, speed boats and the UV and jungle madness that has made our venues famous. Avoid the scary clowns though.

Enjoy golf with a difference at Junkyard Golf

"Not your average night out, each course is Oscar worthy. Think skull ferris wheels, adult slides, wrecked cars and multiple levels of pure crazy golf madness and bars dotted around the courses provide a well-deserved pit stop."

For film buffs, Curzon, a cinema that has become something of a British institution, will open its doors just a few weeks later on November 17.

The 80 year-old company, which has been recognised by BAFTA for its contribution to British cinema, will screen popular releases as well as independent films for the more discerning movie fan.

The five-screen cinema will be located next to John Lewis and above Blackwells. It will have state of the art projection and sound – as well as a 35mm projector for classics. There will also be a VR Lounge, the first of its kind in a UK cinema.

expected to rise city-wide as £440m Westgate launches on Tuesday

Shoppers encouraged to use city's park and rides

Final preparations are being made ahead of the opening of Westgate on Tuesday – the centre will launch with more than 60 outlets

By George Welch

VISITORS to the £440million Westgate Centre will be given a 'world class welcome to a world class shopping centre' as transport chiefs reveal 'sustainable' plans to reduce congestion in the city.

Oxford's two main bus companies, the Westgate Alliance and local authorities are urging motorists to ditch their cars as they envision the city's five park and ride sites to act as the 'gateway' to Westgate.

The Oxford Bus Company and Stagecoach Oxfordshire have invested nearly £16m combined to improve their fleets ahead of the shopping centre's opening on Tuesday – some buses even have sofas to give shoppers the best possible experience.

Focusing on the park and ride is believed to be the best way to allow for easy travel into Oxford.

Seacourt will be expanded by 1,000 parking spaces while all five sites will have branded totem poles matching the coloured buses to make it easier for bus users.

A single ticket solution to cover parking costs and the bus fare will also be introduced. Oxford Bus Company introduced contactless payment for its park and ride service in June to assist passengers.

Eleven new bus stops will serve the city centre while a new 'river rapids' Oxford Bus Company route will service Henley and Wallingford to lure shoppers from further away to come to Oxford.

Sara Fuge, development manager for the Westgate Oxford Alliance, said: "We know our customer journey doesn't start and end at our front door.

"We've spent a lot more time, effort and resource on accessibility for our shoppers – it all comes down to offering people sustainable travel choices."

When its doors swing open for the first time on Tuesday, Westgate will boast 1,000 car parking spaces as well as 1,000 cycling spots, including a hub of about 180 spaces located inside the centre in secure storage.

The shopping complex will have later opening times to help mitigate congestion for commuters and shoppers.

Mish Tullar, from the city council communications team, said: "Our overall commitment that we are seeking to achieve is about reducing the number of car journeys into the city. Park and ride is going to be a big part of that solution."

Oxford Bus Company representatives at the launch of contactless payment

Managing director of Oxford Bus Company Phil Southall said park and ride would be the 'gateway' to the city.

He added: "We have been tasked to create a world class welcome for what will be a world class shopping centre."

£12m facility to focus on helping autism sufferers

A CONTRACT has been awarded to build a new £12million hospital in Oxford.

The 22-bed facility, which will cater specifically for those with learning disabilities, would be a 'secure' unit where patients can be treated 'safely and securely'.

Design work has already begun and the unit is expected to be fully operational by July 2019.

Director Anthony Coumidis from construction firm McBains who will build the facility at the Littlemore site said: "We are delighted to have been appointed to this contract.

"The new unit will provide safe and secure services for patients with learning difficulties in the Oxford area and have a strong focus on the environment being autism-friendly."

McBains has built previous health sector projects, including new facilities at the Royal Berkshire Hospital in Reading.

Oxford Health announced in July it would be taking over services for patients with learning disabilities in Oxfordshire from the crisis-ridden Southern Health.

Southern Health stopped operating in the county following the death of Oxford teenager Connor Sparrowhawk at its Slade House unit in Headington.

A&E waiting time worse but cancer care levels better

HOSPITALS across Oxfordshire are operating below target for A&E treatment and planned operations, according to national figures.

A report assessing NHS hospital trusts across the country was released yesterday, with Oxford University Hospitals NHS Trust ranking lower than required in two key areas but above required levels for cancer care.

The focus of the report was waiting time targets in three key areas – A&E treatment, cancer care, and planned operations and care, such as knee and hip replacements, which all have yearly targets.

OUHT ranked 114 out of 134 trusts for A&E treatment. Emergency departments are expected to treat and discharge or admit or transfer a patient within four hours for 95 per cent of cases but according to the figures, the trust last met this target in July 2015.

For planned operations, the trust ranked 93 out of 131 trusts, with the target last hit in February 2016.

On the other hand, the trust surpassed national levels for cancer care, by hitting the target of treating patients within 62 days of urgent referral.

Churchill, Horton General, John Radcliffe, Nuffield Orthopaedic centre, Wallingford Hospital maternity unit, and Wantage hospital maternity unit all operate under the OUHT umbrella.

Three rescued after A34 crash

THREE people had to be taken to hospital following a crash on the A34.

Fire and rescue crews were called to the collision on the southbound carriageway near East Ilsley at 4.30pm on Sunday.

Three casualties were taken to hospital although none of the injuries are thought to be life threatening.

Police are investigating the cause of the two-car incident which forced the closure of that stretch of the A34.

Celebrating three years of helping those in need

THERE was plenty of cake to go around when a cancer charity put on a birthday bash to remember.

Maggie's Oxford was opened in 2014 and since then more than 42,000 people with cancer and their families and friends have used their services.

The charity, which provides free practical and emotional support for people living with cancer, welcomed friends and supporters of Maggie's for a third birthday party at its Churchill Hospital base.

Supporters were able to enjoy an evening of celebration while recognising all of those who have helped the charity so far.

The centre's head, Claire Marriott, said: "The local community around us have truly made the centre their own and I am delighted we have been here to offer a warm Maggie's welcome to men and women of all ages living with cancer.

"Every year our Maggie's community develops and grows, but as always the kitchen table and our evidence based programme of support is at the heart of all that happens here."

Maggie's offers a range of support, including one-to-one or group sessions with a clinical psychologist, stress reduction, relaxation workshops, art therapy and creative writing courses.

More practical support includes advice about benefits and healthy eating.

Maggie's relies on voluntary donations to support and grow its network of centres and to provide support.

Visit tinyurl.com/ybgn3rcj for more information on how to donate to Maggie's.

Middle-aged gap year traveller died after falling from temple

By George Welch

A MAN due to return home from a so-called 'middle-aged gap year' with his wife later this month has fallen to his death in India.

Oxford documentary maker Roger Stotesbury was visiting Orchha, in the Indian state of Madhya Pradesh, with wife Hilary when he plummeted 30ft from the Laxmi Narayan temple on Friday.

The man in his fifties, whose motto was "to die young as late as possible", fell to his death moments after he had finished taking shots of the scenery from the 17th century temple, his family has said.

A family spokesman told the Press Association: "Roger took lots and lots of photographs, and he had gone to take some views from the temple.

"He put his equipment down and then he fell."

They added: "They were the most happily married couple I have ever known. They were just so devoted to each other."

The Times of India said Mr Stotesbury, a father-of-two grown up children, was "standing almost on the edge of a wall on the second floor of the temple" when he fell.

Pictures: Twitter/@RogerStotesbury

A police officer in the town of Tikamgarh was quoted by the Hindustan Times saying: "Other tourists and officials on duty called an ambulance and he was taken to the Orchha government hospital and from there he was referred to Jhansi, looking at the seriousness of his injuries.

"However, his wife insisted that he be taken to Ram Raja hospital in Orchha, where he died during treatment."

The Foreign Office said it was providing assistance to the family following the tragedy.

The couple were due to return to the UK this month, after completing their India trip.

Writing on their blog, ourmiddleagedgapyear.wordpress.com, the couple said they were renting out their home and trying to live on £100 a day.

They said: "We are Hilary and Roger a married couple from England/Scotland who are in their mid-fifties. We've seen our two kids off into the wider world and we have no more caring responsibilities for our parents.

"So we thought now is the time to take a gap year and travel whilst we still have the health and energy. After all you only live once."

Safety Steve shares advice

PUPILS from a Deddington primary school buddied up with Safety Steve to learn about keeping safe while living close to a building site.

The Deddington CofE Primary School youngsters donned hard hats and high-vis vests on a tour around a building site to teach them about the potential dangers of building sites and give them a look at the construction process.

Housebuilder David Wilson Homes is in the process of building Deddington Grange, a development in the village of 84 three, four and five bedroom homes.

Senior sales manager Steve Barton said: "We were delighted to invite pupils from Deddington Primary School to our development in the village to learn more about site safety and our construction process.

"It's incredibly important to us to teach children who live close to our developments about the dangers of building sites."

Headteacher Clive Evans said the Year 3 and 4 pupils "greatly enjoyed" and "learnt a great deal" from their visit.

He added: "They [the pupils] presented the information they gained to the rest of the children back at school so that everyone could benefit from the important safety messages.

"They especially enjoyed meeting Safety Steve."

Pilot died after flying too low

By Eva Astreinidou

A PILOT was killed in a plane crash in Oxfordshire after his aircraft hit trees while flying below safe altitude, an investigation has found.

Pilot David Norris, 64, from Milton Keynes, died in the crash near Aston Rowant Nature Reserve in January.

In a report released last week by the Air Accident Investigations Branch, investigators concluded that visibility was poor and that the crash was not considered 'to be survivable'.

The aircraft, which was flying 1,000ft (304m) below safe altitude, had departed from Buckinghamshire and was flying to Chalgrove Airfield to pick up two passengers.

The report concluded the pilot did not know about better conditions ahead and said it was considered likely he was uncertain of his position relative to the airfield.

Investigators detailed the extensive damage to the light aircraft, a PA-30 Twin Comanche, adding: "The wreckage trail extended for approximately 120 metres. As the aircraft continued along the track, it sank lower into the trees, severing branches and sections of the outer part of the left wing.

"Both engines had detached from the wings and were found, with their propellers, approximately 7m further along the trail. All the fuel tanks had been badly damaged and were empty but there was a strong smell of fuel throughout the wreckage trail."

According to witness reports, the fatal flight took place on a day with 'foggy and miserable' weather.

A National Police Air Service helicopter attending the accident also reported that visibility deteriorated and that a low cloud prevented the pilot from reaching the site.

Light at the end of new tunnel for cyclists and pedestrians

IT is hoped a new pedestrian tunnel set to open next month at Milton Park will encourage more people to walk and cycle instead of using their cars.

This comes after an investment of £900,000 by the Oxfordshire local enterprise partnership to revamp the once neglected rail tunnel.

Due to open in early November, the Backhill Tunnel will serve as a connection beneath the railway for visitors to be able to access the other side more easily.

New lighting will illuminate the pathway and will be activated only as pedestrians and cyclists approach the tunnel to reduce maintenance costs and light pollution.

The new link will form part of a more extensive network that is planned to connect Milton Park to Milton Heights, with the next stage being a new junction at the A4130 to enable users to safely cross the road from Backhill Tunnel.

The work, which is split in phases, is due to be completed entirely in spring 2018. Work on the tunnel was originally due to be completed in September.

A representative from the council said the authority was asked to deliver the tunnel in 2015 but after a discovery of bats nearby and requirements from owners Network Rail, there had to be a review of design plans.

Digging deep to offer more care at hospice

GROUND has been broken on a new state-of–the-art clinic due to open in 2019 after four years of fundraising.

Sobell House hosted a ceremony to mark the start of work that will feature a new clinic and garden annex.

The new hospice space will be built next to the existing Sobell House Hospice on the Churchill Hospital site and will offer a 'comfortable, safe and sympathetic environment' for patients with complex illnesses such as dementia.

In January 2016, Sobell House pledged to invest £9million in the expansion of its care.

With £5m of that already secured, a four-year campaign to raise the additional £4million was launched.

Diane Gardner, CEO of the hospice charity, said: "We are working towards [a] vision to ensure Oxfordshire is a place where everyone has access to good end of life care, wherever they are, and for their families to be supported both

200 green space homes set to be given approval

Campaign groups fear for the 'lasting impact'

By Eva Astreinidou

CAMPAIGN groups are standing united in their opposition to proposals to build more than 200 homes in Didcot.

Red Light Greenlight and Save Lloyd Road Fields Campaign were calling for residents to turn out in force ahead of a 'momentous' decision-making meeting last night.

The plan to build 135 homes on Park Road, Didcot and the proposal to build 74 homes opposite East Hagbourne school have both been criticised by residents.

The campaigners have called on South Oxfordshire District Council to make the right decision.

They said: "Each decision will have a lasting impact on the future of Didcot and East Hagbourne. This is the tipping point."

Developer Greenlight has defended its plans for East Hagbourne, saying it is working to quash concerns over road safety and the safety of pupils who would be using the crossing in Main Road to access the primary school.

A representative said: "Greenlight Developments have taken concerns seriously throughout the planning process.

"Oxfordshire County Council has found there to be no highways issues with the proposed development and they support the planning application."

Greenlight added it has also commissioned an independent road safety audit, which concluded there were no safety concerns with regards to the crossing of Main Road.

> "Each decision will have a lasting impact on the future of Didcot and East Hagbourne. This is the tipping point."
>
> Campaigners opposed to the plans for 209 homes

They said: "The audit raises three minor points with regards to the design of the access junction, all of which have been accommodated within the scheme as designed."

Meanwhile, a representative from Catesby, the developer behind the Park Road scheme, said: "The proposals include 40 per cent affordable homes suitable for young families, first-time buyers and key workers.

"Our vision is to provide much-needed new homes in an attractive setting that complements the community and natural character of the local area.

"We have worked closely with SODC as the scheme progressed and are pleased to have an officers' recommendation to approve the application with no objections from the highways authority; no impact on heritage and the setting of the AONB [area of outstanding natural beauty]; and a significant landscape buffer to respect Didcot, Coscote and East Hagbourne as separate areas."

Both proposals have been recommended for approval by the council.

Go to oxfordshireguardian.co.uk for the outcome of the meeting due to take place last night.

City bid to use empty homes

EMPTY homes in Oxford could be brought back into use to help homeless people or those in housing need.

The city council is marking this year's national empty homes week, running until Sunday, by calling on all landlords in the city who can to help bring more empty properties back into use.

Councillor Mike Rowley, board member for housing, said the authority intends to apply orders on landlords, which will help takeover the maintenance of buildings that have been empty for some time.

He said: "It's disappointing that any property is left empty in a city with such high housing needs. Empty homes week is an opportunity to focus on what the city council and its partners, housing providers and community organisations and homelessness charities are doing to bring these empty properties back into use."

In 2015, there were more than 360 homes in Oxford that had been empty for six months or longer.

This reduced to 303 by March 2017 with less than 70 of these empty for more than two years.

Last year, 22 homes were brought back into use.

To report an empty private sector property visit www.oxford.gov.uk/reportemptyhomes.

A 10-year-old snowboarder has been selected for a training programme that could set him on the path to Olympic glory.

Bradley Baker, from Thame, will take up a place at the Snowsport England Home Nations Park and Pipe Academy for the 2017/18 season.

This puts him under the 'eye of national coaches and trainers' and could help him with his ultimate ambition of winning gold at the Winter Olympics.

Bradley, a pupil at Tetsworth Primary School trains at The Snow Centre in Hemel Hempstead. He will spend weekends training at Loughborough University where he will have access to world-class facilities.

He will also get support with gymnastic sessions, nutrition and fitness, as well as the opportunity to take part in on-snow camps in Europe throughout the winter.

He said: "I am so proud to have been picked up by Snowsports England and asked to train under the eye of the national coaches and trainers.

"I work hard and it's nice to see I am taking the right steps towards achieving my goals – which is ultimately going to a Winter Olympics and winning gold."

Snowsport England talent development officer Ian Findlay said: "He has shown that he has both the talent and attitude to become part of the academy, which will aid his journey towards competing at a national level."

Scientist's funding boost to help treat secondary cancer

By George Welch

AN Oxford scientist has been awarded major funding to tackle breast cancer that has spread to the brain.

Oxford University's Professor Nicola Sibson has been granted almost £200,000 by research charity Breast Cancer Now to fund research and uncover treatment combinations to control the spread of breast cancer.

Nearly 600 women in Oxfordshire are diagnosed with this type of cancer every year, and over 100 women in the county die from the disease each year.

The cash boost marked Secondary Breast Cancer Awareness Day on Friday last week – all 11,500 women who die as a result of breast cancer each year in the UK will have seen their cancer spread.

That's where Professor Sibson and her team come in.

They will undertake a three-year project to pinpoint which combinations of anti-inflammatory drugs reduce the growth of breast tumours in the brain most effectively, and whether these could also be given alongside radiotherapy with greater effect.

Professor Nicola Sibson has been awarded funding to tackle the spread of breast cancer

Scientists will implant breast tumours into the brains of mice, before testing a range of anti-inflammatory drugs and examining the effect on tumour growth.

The team will then combine the most effective anti-inflammatories with radiotherapy in mice to identify which combinations best control tumour growth in the brain.

Professor Sibson, professor of imaging neuroscience at the university, said: "We urgently need to find ways to treat brain metastases [secondary growth] more effectively and improve survival rates.

"With this funding from Breast Cancer Now our aim is to increase treatment options for patients suffering metastatic spread to the brain.

"We hope that by targeting the innate immune system we can halt or reduce tumour growth, and enhance the effectiveness of radiotherapy."

Dr Richard Berks, senior research communications officer at Breast Cancer Now, said: "Our ambition is that by 2050, everyone who develops breast cancer will live…Prof Sibson's project could help bring us one step closer to our 2050 vision and we'd like to thank our supporters across Oxford who continue to help make our world-class research possible."

Phasing out faxes

HOSPITALS across Oxfordshire have turned digital after switching off their fax machines.

The Oxford University Hospitals NHS Foundation Trust (OUH), which runs three hospitals in Oxford and the Horton General in Banbury, is one of the first trusts to turn off its faxes.

Now, the hospitals will be using NHSmail, a digital service for health and social care.

Chief information and digital officer Peter Knight said it was 'the right time' to make the move to the digital platform.

Bereavement support service opens up new help for parents

By Samantha McGregor

A NEW counselling service to support bereaved parents in Oxfordshire has been launched.

National counselling charity Petals, which specialises in trauma and loss during pregnancy and birth, has expanded its free service to Banbury's Horton General Hospital.

Bereavement midwife and counsellor Kim Paul, who was keen to ensure counselling was still offered to couples after her retirement, initiated the move.

Its launch last week coincided with Baby Loss Awareness Week, an annual event to help raise awareness of miscarriage, stillbirth and neonatal loss.

Statistics from Petals show one in every 200 babies in the UK is stillborn and one in four pregnancies end in miscarriage.

Mrs Paul said: "Many couples find themselves shocked and bewildered by their loss and trauma, and unable to see a way forward.

"Specialised counselling provides them with a safe place to explore what has happened, begin to make sense of the impact and work towards a more hopeful future."

The maternity team secured funding from the Ashfield Fund, which is funded by bereaved families, and worked with Oxford University Hospitals to start the counselling service which began in June.

It supports Oxfordshire couples suffering pregnancy losses from 13 weeks.

Karen Burgess, Petals chief executive, said: "Expanding our counselling service to Oxfordshire was part of the strategic plan of Petals as we recognised the need would be similar to our pioneering service in Cambridge.

"We are therefore delighted that Ashfield Trust have provided funding, enabling the delivery of our free counselling service to parents in their local area, when they need it most."

MP Victoria Prentis, vice chairman of the All Party Parliamentary Group on Baby Loss, attended the launch.

She said: "Support for parents suffering the loss of a child is a subject close to my heart.

"When our son died, I needed all the help and support I could get.

"I am very pleased that a new service is being launched for parents across Oxfordshire, which will be accessible through our much-loved Horton General Hospital.

"The launch today marks a positive step in providing specialist support for parents and their families.

"I was honoured to meet those involved in the process and look forward to supporting Petals' work in the future."

The service hopes to take on a second counsellor next year.

Victoria Prentis MP, second right, helped launch the free counselling service with representatives from Petals and the Horton hospital

Drivers honoured for years of safety

FIVE bus drivers have been recognised for their collective 68 years of accident free driving.

Stagecoach Oxfordshire's Paul Turner is now the bus company's safest driver having accumulated 19 years of accident free driving.

Fellow drivers John Bell and Darran Brown celebrated 15 and 12 years respectively, while Ady Dedia and George Irvine were both rewarded for their 11 years.

The quintet were presented with diplomas and badges to honour their years of accident free driving at an awards ceremony at Oxford's Four Pillars Hotel.

Stagecoach in Oxfordshire managing director Martin Sutton congratulated a total of 226 drivers with a safe driving diploma at the annual Safe Driving Awards dinner at the end of last month.

He said: "Safe driving is paramount for Stagecoach, so we ensure that we recognise all of those who have been accident free over the last year.

"In addition, we are thrilled to honour those who have multiple years of safe driving.

"We are very proud of our top five drivers and are so pleased we could honour their achievement at the awards ceremony.

"We look forward to celebrating with even more drivers next year."

The Safe Driving Awards is run in partnership between Stagecoach in Oxfordshire and the Road Operators Safety Council (ROSCO) to recognise drivers who have gone 12 months without an accident.

Headteacher swings into his retirement with golf day

THE headteacher of The Manor Prep School in Abingdon will be retiring this Christmas after more than 11 years in the role.

When Piers Heyworth announced his retirement he said he was looking forward to working on his golf swing.

So to celebrate his years of service the Faringdon Road-based school put on a surprise crazy golf day last Friday.

Pupils enjoyed a round of golf, wore fancy dress, tucked in to Mr Whippy ice cream and were given a boxed souvenir golf ball with Mr Heyworth's signature on.

A school spokesperson said: "Mr Heyworth will be sadly missed by all the children, staff and parents at The Manor and our golf day is just the start of many surprises for him before his last day on Thursday 14 December."

Alastair Thomas, headteacher at a Worcestershire school, takes over from January 2018.

P2G chuffed to raise £16k and beat the target

By George Welch

MONTHS of tireless work, intense campaigning and a whole mountain of events have paid off for our charity of the year, which has smashed its target for 2017 by more than £6,000.

Didcot-based fundraising group Play2Give set out to raise £10,000 at the start of the year to mark its 10th anniversary.

But the last 10 months has surpassed expectations for 'over the moon' founder Andy Baker, with £16,000 being raised for the Oxford Children's Hospital and Headway Oxfordshire.

That figure represents the organisation's most successful year – and there's still more than two months to go. P2G's previous record was £13,530 raised in 2015.

It's been the busiest, biggest and most action-packed year so far for Andy, who is refusing to rest on his laurels and has raised the bar to £17,000.

Andy, of Great Western Drive, said: "We are absolutely over the moon and chuffed beyond words to have smashed our target. This year has just been the most amazing yet and the most successful on record – never before have we raised this much money.

"It just shows the local community of Didcot and the county have such love for P2G and taken us to their hearts to support our fundraising objectives so well year-on-year.

"To have smashed our initial goal and to break it and raise more than ever before is just special for our big special year."

The 29-year-old added: "I never dreamt when I set up P2G a whole decade ago we would still be going strong and raising more each year.

"The money we raise makes a massive and long-lasting difference to so many and we are all about staying local to help local people in need.

"Our hard and tireless work all year has really been worth it – but we're not giving up anytime soon, as we still want to raise as much as we can this year."

There are still plenty of ways to get involved with P2G's special year of fundraising.

Helping hand for mental health

A SPECIAL book travelled the length of Oxfordshire inviting people to fight the stigma surrounding mental health.

As part of world mental health day last week, schools, businesses and local officials contributed works of poetry, art and hand-written pledges to a project launched by charities Oxfordshire Mind and Revolve.

The work was collated into a book that then travelled Oxfordshire in a relay-style event, culminating in a gathering at county hall.

Oxford city councillors Marie Tidball and Tom Hayes and Oxford's deputy mayor Christine Simms attended the event to help raise awareness about the importance of mental health.

MP admits using cannabis at uni as she supports legalisation

AN Oxfordshire MP joined pro-cannabis activists as they smoked a joint and indulged in hash cake outside the House of Commons.

Abingdon and Oxford East MP Layla Moran was with the group supporting legalising cannabis for medical use, admitting she had smoked before while at university and had in fact inhaled.

The unusual 'tea party' was organised by the United Patients Alliance, a group that wants to have the drug legalised for those suffering from chronic conditions, including multiple sclerosis.

Labour MPs Paul Flynn and Tonia Antoniazzi appeared alongside Ms Moran who told the event one of her best friends had died from MS.

She added: "If there was anything that we can do to help them then I think this is a good thing."

This comes as a bill to legalise the Class B drug for medicinal purposes is to be read on February 23, two years after a debate in parliament where government officials said 'there are no plans to legalise cannabis as it would not address the harm to individuals and communities'.

Around one million people in the UK use cannabis for medical reasons but possession can result in up to five years in prison, or 14 years for those who supply and produce it.

Plaque to honour first black graduate

By Eva Astreinidou

OXFORD'S first black graduate will be remembered with a plaque to show commitment to recognising and supporting the 'brightest students regardless of background'.

Christian Cole graduated from University College in 1876 with a degree in classics, before becoming the first black African to practice law in English courts in 1883.

The college will unveil the plaque in his honour on Saturday at Logic Lane.

This comes as institutions are recognising black history month internationally.

Sir Ivor Crewe, master of University College, said: "We are delighted to be able to honour [Christian Cole] in this way. The plaque will act as a permanent reminder of his remarkable achievements as well as a symbol of our continued commitment to recognising and supporting the brightest students whatever their backgrounds."

Dr Rebecca Surender, pro vice-chancellor and advocate for equality and diversity at Oxford, said: "The plaque will be a reminder of how far we have progressed since Cole graduated from Oxford, and of many more diverse stories of achievement and success."

The plaque's unveiling follows the launch of the Oxford black alumni network, a campaign to connect Oxford's black graduates and encourage future generations of leading black students in the UK.

The university has previously been criticised for its lack of diversity and inclusion.

Earlier this year, the campaign group Rhodes Must Fall said more needs to be done to promote racial equality and a diverse environment at the university.

Previously, the group campaigned to have the Cecil Rhodes statue at Oriel College removed saying it was to combat the 'colonisation' of education by removing the tribute to the 'assassin and usurper'.

In April, the university apologised after a major backlash followed a newsletter released by its institution's equality and diversity unit.

The newsletter suggested that avoiding eye contact could be deemed as racist, or a 'racial micro-aggression', which can lead to 'mental ill-health'.

Homes target met

AFFORDABLE housing targets are being met in west Oxfordshire, new figures have revealed.

In the first quarter of 2017, a total of 24 new homes have been built.

This includes 20 properties in New Road, Bampton and four in Swinbrook Road, Carterton.

West Oxfordshire District Council wants to build 133 affordable homes in the 2017/18 financial year.

Cherwell has also had a "successful" year building new homes and smashed its affordable homes target.

New figures from Cherwell District Council show 1,102 new homes were completed in the district in 2016/17 and 28 per cent – 312 – were affordable homes. The council's target was 190.

But the number of homes built is still 40 short of the target set in the 2014 Strategic Market Housing Assessment.

CU ban lifted

STUDENTS at an Oxford University college have backtracked on their decision to ban the Christian Union (CU) from their freshers' fair.

Students at Balliol stopped the CU from attending the event earlier this month because they wanted it to be a "safe and secular space".

But organisers have since agreed to allow religious groups at future fairs.

Steering a change in opinion

By Samantha McGregor

Sian Phillips stars as Miss Daisy and Derek Griffiths as chauffeur Hoke Colburn

A NEW production of award-winning playwright Alfred Uhry's comedy drama Driving Miss Daisy is touring the country.

And it stops off at the Oxford Playhouse from Monday, October 30, until Saturday, November 4.

When elderly widow Daisy Werthan crashes her car one day in 1948, her son hires her a chauffeur, an African-American named Hoke Colburn.

Daisy and Hoke's relationship gets off to a rocky start, but as times change across a 25-year backdrop of prejudice, inequality and civil unrest, a profound and life-altering friendship blossoms in this acclaimed comedy drama.

Dame Siân Phillips and Derek Griffiths star in the lead roles, with direction by Richard Beecham.

This production marks 30 years since the play premiered.

Dame Siân's career spans more than seven decades - from her multi award-winning performance in I, Claudius to the Tony nominated performance of Marlene on Broadway.

Phillips is joined by RSC actor and legendary presenter, Derek Griffiths', most recently recognised as mechanic Freddie Smith in Coronation Street.

He has numerous West End credits to his name, which include the original production of Beauty and the Beast, where he originated the role of Lumière, and the Child Catcher in the West End run of Chitty Chitty Bang Bang at the London Palladium.

From its landmark off-Broadway production in 1987 to the remarkable success of the 1989 film version, which was the winner of four Academy Awards including Best Picture, Driving Miss Daisy has touched the hearts of millions worldwide.

Tickets for Driving Miss Daisy at Oxford Playhouse start at £10 and are available from the box office on 01865 305305 or go to oxfordplayhouse.com

R&B star Akon at O2

Grammy-nominated and platinum-selling R&B hip hop artist and producer Akon will perform at the Oxford O2 Academy on Monday, November 6.

Aside from his most well-known singles such as Smack That, I Wanna Love You and Lonely, Akon has also made more than 150 guest appearances on a range of records for artists including Eminem, Lady Gaga, David Guetta, Lil Wayne, Gwen Stefani, Snoop Dogg and Michael Jackson and has also sold over 35 million albums to date.

It is the first time in two years American-born Akon will play in the UK.

Moyet's other side

SINGER songwriter Alison Moyet will appear at the New Theatre this autumn as part of an international tour.

She will be showcasing her new album Other, released earlier this year.

Moyet, now in her 50s, said: "For me, making a record at this age, lyrically, is a different proposition.

"Observation in most cases replaces emotion. The invisibility of middle-aged woman rather thrills me and instead I watch."

Moyet exploded onto the pop scene in the 1980s as one half of Yazoo with Vince Clarke, before working as a solo performer with hits songs including Invisible, Love Resurrection and All Cried Out.

The gig is on November 7. For tickets go to atgtickets.com/oxford

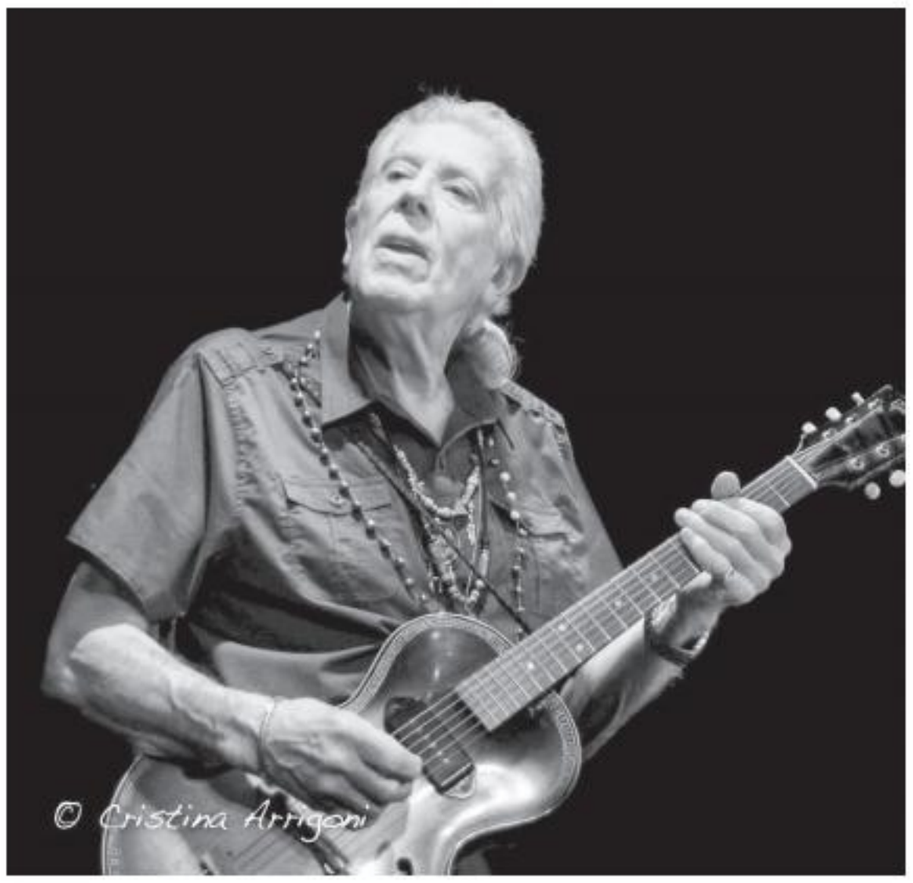
Talk about a legend...

By Samantha McGregor



BLUES Hall Of Fame icon, John Mayall stops off in Oxford as part of his upcoming tour.

Mayall's been at the forefront of the blues revolution since the 1960's with the formation of his band John Mayall and the Bluesbreakers.

He takes to the stage at the New Theatre on November 8.

The tour coincides with the release of John's 65th studio album, Talk About That.

Described as the Godfather of British blues, John Mayall and the Bluesbreakers featured a cast of legendary members from Eric Clapton, John McVie, Peter Green, Mick Taylor and Mick Fleetwood in different line-ups over the years.

He is one of the most iconic and prolific British musicians of all time in any genre and has a career that has spanned six decades.

The guitarist, singer and organist's pioneering blues-blend has also seen him find fame in America, where he was heralded for his many jazz, rock and blues innovations.

This culminated in him being nominated for a Grammy Award, for his 1993 album Wake Up Call. The album featured special guest appearances from Mick Taylor, Mavis Staples and Buddy Guy.

Cheshire born Mayall was awarded an OBE for his services to British music in 2005, and was also inducted into the Blues Hall of Fame in 2016.

Having permanently retired the Bluesbreakers name in 2008, Mayall began touring with George Rzab on bass and Jay Davenport as a trio.

This tour will also feature very special guests, The Buddy Whittington Band – formed by former Bluesbreaker, Buddy Whittington.

Texan guitarist Buddy, a long-term collaborator of Mayall, joined The Bluesbrakers in 1993, he energized the band with his unique and fiery live style.

Buddy made his recording debut on the Spinning Coin album.

Stray Birds come to nest in Oxford

AMERICAN folk group The Stray Birds have announced a UK tour to include Oxford.

The band, Maya de Vitry, Oliver Craven and Charlie Muench, will play at The Bullingdon, on November 16, one of 11 dates on the whistle-stop tour.

Starting in Glasgow on November 3, the tour will promote the band's latest, and third, studio album, Magic Fire.

Recorded in upstate New York with Grammy-winning producer Larry Campbell, Magic Fire marks the first time the band worked with an outside producer and drummer.

The 12-song set opens with Shining In The Distance, and includes Third Day In A Row and Hands Of Man.

Hailing from Lancaster, Pennsylvania, the band formed in 2010, and have spent the last few years honing their sound and touring extensively.

Their Borderland EP was released in 2010, followed by their full-length debut The Stray Birds in 2012, Echo Sessions EP in 2013, and Best Medicine in 2014.

Best Medicine debuted at number two on the Billboard Bluegrass chart and title track Best Medicine was named Song of the Year in 2015 at the International Folk Music Awards.

In 2016 they picked up best band and album of the year in the AmericanaUK Readers' Poll for Magic Fire.

Previously, the band has played Denmark's annual Americana celebration, the Tonder Festival, and Cambridge Folk Festival.

Cunning new look for a traditional favourite

A NEW look, new menu and new owners but the same warm welcome awaits at The Fox Inn at Boars Hill.

Following an extensive makeover, the traditional pub has some contemporary new features which combine well to create a home-from-home environment.

Seasonal menus celebrating the best of British produce are on offer with daily changing specials.

A range of pub classics sits alongside dishes for diners looking to explore new flavours and food with a twist.

As we found when we tried out the refurbished inn just outside Abingdon. After a warm welcome and having enjoyed drinks at the stylish new bar we were seated in one of the many quirky nooks and crannies that give this pub such character.

In addition to the regular menu, there are daily specials on a board which always feature a butcher's choice and catch of the day.

We chose two very different starters to begin our meal with - venison scotch egg on celeriac and chive remoulade and whipped brie with grilled pumpkin and hazelnut and chervil pesto.

The egg was soft and runny while the venison had a rich earthiness to it and was complimented perfectly by the crisp remoulade.

I'm not sure what I had expected with the brie and pumpkin but it was a pleasant surprise, offering a smooth creamy quenelle which pared well with the taste of the pumpkin and pesto.

As we waited for our mains we enjoyed the artwork on the walls, much of which features foxes as you might expect.

The mains as with the starters were attractively presented and invited you to eat them as well as admire them - we opted for sea bass with saffron potatoes and samphire and brown crab dressing and the catch of the day the fish pie with battered anchovies and seasonal vegetables.

Sea bass and samphire is a winning combination - you can almost smell the waves washing in while the fish pie was delightfully topped with peaks of potato giving a slightly crisp topping added to by the battered anchovies giving an additional texture.

This was accompanied by a lime fresh, zesty Picpoul de Pinet recommended to us to accompany the fish dishes which it did so excellently.

Don't be afraid to ask the staff for their advice - they are friendly, helpful, knowledgeable and a credit to the pub.

With the zesty taste uppermost I opted for the lemon curd cheesecake for dessert, served with toasted meringue, lime cream and raspberries - all the sharp citrus flavours I love in a pud and they certainly delivered. My husband was feeling rather full so opted for vanilla ice cream and mango sorbet which I couldn't resist digging my spoon into to add to the zesty taste of my cheesecake.

Feeling more than full by now we took a walk around the pub to fully appreciate the changes that had been made and stepped out onto the decking. The large decked area in the garden will be well worth a visit in the warmer weather but you may well have to fight for a spot as it's sure to be popular.

A wide range of gins is on offer at the cosy bar and if you fancy a cocktail The Fox has a variety to choose from alongside its more traditional real ales

In fact had it been a warmer night when we visited I would have taken my rhubarb gin (one of many The Fox offers) and ginger outside to enjoy - and will do in the summer, not the least to enjoy the splendid view of the Oxfordshire countryside.

"I honestly believe that Colourfence is the best general purpose fencing product on the market today!"

Get ready for Autumn

Now's the perfect time to replace your garden fence once and for all. Anna Ryder Richardson - Designer and Television Presenter - takes a closer look at Colourfence, the revolutionary low-maintenance system.

It's been ten years since I regularly graced TV screens helping transform people's living spaces with MDF and stripped floorboards. Recently it's been more "celebrity muck out" than "celebrity make-over" as I took up the challenge of owning my own Wildlife Zoo in Tenby. In this time I've learnt quiet a lot about fences and having researched the various options for my own benefit I thought I would share my knowledge with a wider audience.

The latest design processes mean there is now a tremendous array of fencing products for you to choose from, constructed from a variety of materials. Each has its own attributes, and ultimately it can often come down to a matter of personal preference. For me, there was one unique system that stood out as providing the best balance between price and functionality which eradicates fencing problems for good. Or for at least 25 years. Colourfence. For quality, value, longevity, aesthetic design, this fencing system ticks all the boxes. Fencing made for the 21st century that will transform the look of your garden which is supplied and fitted by a company whose customer service is as good as the product.

In my view, Colourfence is the 'Rolls Royce' of fencing – just without the exclusive price tag. What's more, it's guaranteed to stay in place in up to 130mph winds and is virtually maintenance free.

To find out how the experts from Colourfence might help you, I suggest you call 01865 582 171 and speak to their team.

Colourfence: The ultimate garden fence?

For many Colourfence is perhaps the ultimate choice. For the last 15 years it's been widely used across the UK and has steadily gained a reputation for its quality. By using the highest specification Colorbond steel in the fence structure itself, complemented by the highest level of customer service from accredited Franchisees, Colourfence is now regarded by many as the premier fencing solution in the market. Immune to the rot and resistant to the weather that so quickly effects wooden fences, Colourfence has none of the drawbacks of wood - plenty of additional benefits and what's more it's better value!

Call 01865 582 171 for more information

Gardeners' Questions

Q Wooden fence panels just don't seem to last - is there a storm resistant alternative?

A The Colourfence system has been tested under cyclonic conditions to withstand storms with wind gusts up to 130mph. Unlike your wooden fence - once professionally installed - Colourfence really will stay up!

Q No matter what I treat my wooden fence with - nothing seems to prevent it rotting or looking shabby for very long.

A Treating your fence is a thankless and expensive task. It's also a losing battle. Wood simply want's to rot. Colourfence offers a low-maintenance alternative where by an occasional wash down will keep it looking great for up to 25 years! GUARANTEED!†

Get your beard on and get ready

MAKE the festive season even more memorable by taking part in one of the biggest Santa runs in the UK to raise money for local terminally ill children, young adults and their families.

The ever popular pre-festive season event for Helen & Douglas House Hospice is happening in central Oxford on Sunday December 10.

The 3.5 km fun run starts in Broad Street and goes through University Parks.

Last year 2,200 Santas of every age took part, to help raise funds for the local charity that provides hospice care for children and young adults from across the region.

Your participation in Santas on the Run will make a real difference in helping to care for terminally ill children, young adults and their families through exceptional hospice care.

It costs over £5million a year to run the two hospice houses and provide the outreach nursing service and it cannot do this without your help.

The charity provides medical, emotional and practical support to help families deal with the implications of living with a child who will die prematurely, so they can make the most of their time together.

For more information or to sign up go to www.hdh.org.uk.

School's Out

Roll down a hill or build a den no matter your age

IT'S half term in October but that doesn't mean you can't get out and enjoy what's around you.

With autumn crafts, tree-climbing, Hallowe'en trail and pumpkin carving, there's no excuse to be bored at half term this October.

There are plenty of places to take an autumnal walk or enjoy one of the National Trust's recommended 50 things to do before you're 11 ¾. You could play conkers, explore inside a tree or go on a nature walk at night.

White Horse Hill at Uffington offers as much outdoors as you can handle – even on the calmest day, you can always find a breeze to fly a kite. In fact, most of the time you must take care not to take off!

And the sense of freedom and oneness with nature that comes from standing at the top of the hill is second to none. It's got to be one of the best places to challenge a child to climb a hill, fly a kite and then roll back down.

Park up at the car park, and savour the views, as you head out across the fields towards the site of the White Horse.

Make sure you complete these 50 things... during your visit.

■ No.2 roll down a really big hill

Dare you tumble down the precipitous slopes under the famous White Horse towards the Manger, or would you rather roll down Dragon Hill? This extraordinary hillock is said to be where St George slayed the ferocious fire-breathing dragon. Watch out for the white mark at the top, where it is said that the dragon fell and his poisonous blood has scarred the landscape to this day.

■ No.7 fly a kite

Feel the exhilarating tug of the wind against the strings of your kite... but watch out you don't take off...

■ No.25 make a grass trumpet

Make wild music. Blow a grass trumpet and tick it off your 50 things to do before you're 11 3/4 challenges this year.

■ No.28 climb a huge hill

Put your best foot forward and climb to the highest point in Oxfordshire. The trig point, which marks 262m, is located between the Horse and Uffington Castle.

From here enjoy the best views of this dramatic landscape with its high crest and rippling valley. Then challenge yourself to climb up the side of the Manger to the White Horse or follow in the footsteps of St George and conquer Dragon Hill.

Visitors to the British Motor Museum are invited to get creative this half term from 21 – 29 October. They can draw, paint, stick and colour with a number of art-based workshops which run from Monday to Friday. Part of the 'Fantastic for Families' national art campaign, these fun activities are sure to entertain the whole family!

On Monday & Tuesday be part of 'Motor Mouths', a digital arts project led by artist Richard Jones. Start by simply drawing a car, then using digital technology you could see yourself in the driving seat. On Wednesday artist Maria Clancy will guide you through the process and techniques of painting in watercolour. There will also be a chance for you to add your car to a collaborative artwork that Maria will be producing. Whilst on Thursday, F1 motorsport artist, Brian Casey, will be on hand to show you how he draws and sketches in fine detail, so that you can have a go at creating your own detailed masterpiece. Then on Friday you can stamp your 'Marque' and join in the print workshop choosing from an array of templates inspired by the collection of car badges.

It wouldn't be October half term without something Halloween – so the 'Black Cat' trail is back by popular demand. Youngsters can search for the Black Cats around the Museum using torches to reveal the colour of their eyes. Suitable for 3 years plus. There is also a brand new interactive trail for all the family – the case of the 'Missing Plans,' visitors will need to follow a trail of clues to solve the mystery!

Emma Rawlinson, Life Long Learning Officer at the British Motor Museum stated "With an exciting week of family friendly activities from art-based workshops, to family trails, plus the chance to meet various artists and see an art installation in situ, we have plenty on offer this half term to keep everyone entertained!"

All half term family activities are included in the Museum entry. Adults £14, Children £9 (5-16 years) under 5's free, Concessions £12 & Family £39 (2 adults & up to 3 children). Buy one day and get 12 months free if you Gift Aid your entrance. Both trails are running daily including the weekends. All workshops run on weekdays 10am to 3pm. There is no need to book, just drop into the Learning Spaces. Most workshops allow you to take away your completed masterpiece and are suitable for 5 years plus unless otherwise stated.

A good time to be a girl

Said our CEO, Cheryl Giovannoni, speaking to the Girls Day School Trust

Whilst there is continual media coverage of anxious, unhappy teenagers, there are also a vast majority of girls who are far stronger, resilient, opinionated, and feisty than they are given credit for. That can be incredibly empowering for a girls' school, and Oxford High is relishing the challenge of how to prepare our students for the wider world, for their roles as future leaders and as happy individuals.

To do this requires continual innovation and understanding of the ways girls learn. Our 360 Programme for Sixth Form offers a very different approach to academic achievement, developing leadership, and nurturing self-belief. This academic year, we launch our very own MOOC in partnership with FutureLearn and the GDST. This enhances the Perspectives strand of the 360 focusing on 'me, my community and my world' and includes life skills such as employability, personal finance and networking delivered via a tech platform that reflects the digital age our students inhabit.

We believe every girl who is bright and keen should have the opportunity to fulfil her potential regardless of financial circumstances. Almost one in five of pupils at GDST schools receives a bursary or scholarship to help towards fees and our long-standing relationship with the HSBC Scholarship Programme provides life-changing bursary funding for girls entering OHS from the state sector.

If you are interested in studying at Oxford High, contact us now on Tel: 01865 318500 or Email: admissions@oxf.gdst.net

Your home is your greatest asset, and you've worked hard for it.

We know you care about the impression your home makes on your friends, your family and your neighbours, and you value quality and style.

So you need to be certain that your new driveway is designed to enhance your home, built from the finest materials and engineered to last.

Let's be honest – the driveway business doesn't enjoy the best reputation, with expensive, hard-sell national home improvement firms at one end and cheap fly-by-night operations at the other.

We think you deserve better.

So we looked closely at the problems associated with our industry and built an entirely new model.

We founded the the New Driveway Company to bring a new level of professionalism, design and customer service to the homeowners of Oxford.

Protect your home from future care home fees

"We've worked hard and saved all our lives. Why should the Local Authority get it all?"

Does this sound familiar?

"We have made our Wills, leaving everything to each other and then to the children."

These are known as Mirror Wills. Sounds reassuring enough, doesn't it? But your children could in fact end up with very little or even nothing at all.

If your surviving spouse has to go into care, they will have to use all their assets to pay for their care until they get down to their last £14,250. It is therefore not a good idea to leave your half share of the home to your surviving partner but instead leave them the use of your share. This can be achieved by making new Property Trust Wills. These legitimate steps must be taken while you are both alive and in reasonable good mental health. It is therefore important for couples to act now!

Most of our clients come to us having already made standard Mirror Wills or have been meaning to make a Will but simply haven't got around to it. With Property Trust Wills, yourself and your spouse/partner each leave your half share of the home to the children in Trust but state that they are not to receive it during the lifetime of the surviving spouse/partner. This half would then NOT be included in any future means test calculations for care fees. The surviving spouse is free to sell their share of the home, raise cash or move house. Your children are powerless to intervene but simply have to wait for their inheritance, as they would have done previously.

April King Legal are your local estate law specialists and have prepared a jargon-free guide to protecting your hard earned assets. Call for your free copy today. Your details will remain confidential and never passed to any third party.

These invaluable information packs also include details of Lasting Power of Attorney and our special Bloodline Trust Wills which help prevent your children and grandchildren from losing their inheritance due to a child's divorce, remarriage or financial difficulties.

Honda Civic 1.5 VTEC Sport Plus Manual

Perfect companion for modern driver

By Tony Yates

For this week's review – I decided to check out if the new Honda Civic is the perfect car for the modern driver. Well after 18 hours of driving - I am happy to report that the new Civic is the perfect companion for the modern motorist.

And when I say perfect – it's not really that far off. Yes, you may not agree with me on all levels – but it has to be noted that there are areas where the new Civic really does stand out against some stiff competition from the likes of Audi and BMW.

Power & efficiency

The Civic is powered by a 1.5-litre VTEC petrol engine that produces 182PS and 240Nm of torque, which makes overtaking in many situations a doddle. As with most Honda engines, it's very refined and pretty much perfect for all those times when you need a willing engine. 0-62 comes in around 8.3 seconds and a max speed of 137mph is achievable. Honda also wanted to make the Civic go as far as possible with the least amount of fuel and on a good run, I managed a staggering 48.7mpg. I would also like to say that the 6-speed gearbox is direct and a real peach to use thanks to Honda getting the gearing just right.

On the road

First off – great chassis, along with a suspension setup that you know has taken Honda many hours of road testing to get it right. The steering is also direct and the grip levels are good, which means the Civic feels tight and taut into the corners. I'm going to say that Honda do a pretty good job of getting the whole package to work together and I have no issues in giving the Civic five stars when it comes to how it performs out on the open road.

Design & technology

Honda has carefully crafted the new Civic to give it a dynamic presence on the road – whilst also introducing some neat touches - like the sculpted headlights and the very bold and almost stealth looking body lines. There is also something more to be said about those sharp lines and bold edges, because it seems to bounce light off every panel, giving it a really good roadside appeal.

The new Honda Civic can give some of its competitors a run for their money

Inside; it's all good with a quality interior and soft-touch surfaces all round which gives it a nice appeal. The Civic is also packed with Honda Connect Technology like; AM/FM, DAB, Bluetooth connectivity, internet browsing, satellite navigation and a rear-view parking camera. Plus you get 'Honda Sensing' as standard which includes a camera and radar technology such as Collision Mitigation Braking System, Lane Departure Warning, Traffic Sign Recognition and intelligent-Adaptive Cruise Control.

Honda Connect is also compatible with Android, along with a GARMIN 7" touchscreen Navigation, 2 x USB & 8 speakers. You also get; smart entry & start, Blind Spot Information, Wireless charging, Adaptive Damper System (all round) LED headlights, dual zone climate control, dual centre exhaust and 17" alloy wheels. Plus a lot more additional equipment that I could tell you about if I had the time. But be warned, the Civic comes fully loaded with all you will ever need and you won't be left wanting for anything.

To sum up

The Civic is a brilliant machine from the people at Honda and I recommend you go out and take a really good look at the new Civic.

Sainz hoping to hit the ground running in first race for team

By Adam Flinn

F1 - Renault

CARLOS Sainz will make his debut for Renault at this weekend's United States Grand Prix as the Enstone-based team looks to climb up the constructors' championship table.

Having already signed for Renault for the 2018 season, Sainz has been brought in early to help the team as it targets an overall finish of fifth place.

Renault are currently eighth on 42 points, 24 behind Williams in fifth with just four races remaining.

Sainz has enjoyed a stellar season so far, amassing 48 of Toro Rosso's 52 points, and is looking forward to the new challenge this weekend in Austin.

He said: "I'm very excited to be joining the team and I hope to hit the ground running.

"It's a big challenge, but it motivates me. We have this last push for the season and I have to find where the limit of the car is, get used to the steering wheel, things like that.

"It's good to see the people at Enstone putting the work in to get back to the top, and they can be sure all the effort being put in is being matched on my side of things and I will be pushing flat out to help the team."

Renault slipped back behind Haas in the constructors' table after the last race in Japan in what was their second consecutive race without any points.

Nico Hulkenberg had been on for a top-10 result but the mechanism on his DRS system broke during the race, forcing him to retire.

Jolyon Palmer finished just outside the points in what was his last race for the team.

Renault's managing director Cyril Abiteboul said: "The US Grand Prix is an important race for us, as we remain in the fight for fifth place in the constructors' standings.

"We are hugely disappointed to go back-to-back races without scoring a point, which has benefited our rival teams. We are missing out on points due to reliability and it's essential we have an error-free weekend in Austin."

Bidding for more than a point in Texas this time

F1 - Haas

HAAS head off to their home race in the United States off the back of only the second double points finish in their short history, secured last time out in Japan.

The American team, which has its European headquarters in Banbury, had drivers Kevin Magnussen and Romain Grosjean finish eighth and ninth in Suzuka.

The six points earned from that meant Haas leapfrog Renault back into seventh place in the constructors' championship.

But ahead of this weekend's race in Austin, Haas' team principal Guenther Steiner is unwilling to make any predictions on where his cars will finish come Sunday.

He said: "We just go out in first practice, see where we are and go on from there.

"To make predictions this year in the midfield is impossible.

"People wrote us off after Malaysia, said we'd scored the last of our points this year, then we came back in Japan with two cars in the points.

"Last year we scored a point at Circuit of the Americas and we'll try to do better this year."

Looking to get both drivers in the points to boost standing

F1 - Williams

SCORING points with both drivers is the main target for Williams this weekend as they fly off to the United States Grand Prix.

The Grove-based team have scored points in each of the last five races and now have a 14-point lead over Toro Rosso in the constructors' championship as they fight to retain fifth.

They are seemingly too far behind to do anything about Force India in fourth, but are optimistic of a strong run-in to the end of the season.

Paddy Lowe, Williams' chief technical officer, said: "The Circuit of the Americas has a very spectacular layout and has created some fantastic races in its short history.

"We have been showing better performance during the last couple of races and we hope for this pattern to continue into this race weekend.

"Our ambition, as always, is to score points with both drivers and we believe this is a realistic target."

Meanwhile, the team is continuing to evaluate Polish driver Robert Kubica over a race seat for 2018 alongside Lance Stroll.

Ten place slip as conditions take their toll

MotoGP

A SODDEN Bradley Smith was left upbeat despite failing to pick up any points in a rain-soaked Japanese MotoGP.

The Forest Hill rider impressed as he qualified in seventh – and his Red Bull KTM team recorded their best qualifying campaign yet – but the 26-year-old seriously suffered in torrential conditions to finish 17th.

Through enormous plumes of spray both Smith and team-mate Pol Espargaro, who crossed the line in 11th, made great starts before tailing away.

But Smith, who this month was confirmed as a KTM rider for 2018, remained in a positive state of mind.

He said: "They were tricky conditions out there with a lot of water, kind of similar to what we had in Misano but here it just kept on raining.

"I went back a bit from seventh on the grid...but I was seventh on the grid!

"It's been a positive weekend in many ways. We have had many positives from the wet laps here to take forward to Phillip Island and Sepang, particularly if it rains there.

"Overall I'm happy with the weekend as it was the first time in these conditions so we'll learn going forward."

Smith is back in action on Sunday at the Australian MotoGP.

Birdies help Eddie secure another good performance

Eddie Pepperell carded his sixth top-10 finish of the year in Milan

ON-FIRE Eddie Pepperell put in another superb performance to secure a top-10 finish for the fifth time in six competitions at the Italian Open.

The Frilford Heath member continued his rich vein of form with a fantastic opening round of 64 for a share of the lead after 18 holes.

The 26-year-old opened with three birdies in the first five holes. A bogey on the eighth was just a bump in the road as he carded three further birdies and an eagle on the 14th.

Pepperell slipped to sixth heading into the weekend following a mixed back nine on Friday but remained in the hunt with a second round of two-under par.

Another round of 69 followed but two dropped shots on the back nine pushed the Abingdon man out of the top-10 heading into the last day.

However, Pepperell produced when it mattered and a final round of 66 confirmed his sixth top-10 finish of the year.

Birdies on the first, sixth and ninth holes – with a bogey at the third – put him on course for another impressive round.

Another eagle on the 14th shot him up the leaderboard and a birdie on the 18th clinched a share of 10th.

Pepperell collected €103,398 in prize money for his clubhouse sixteen-under par.

He has moved up 28 places to 156 in the world rankings after his performance at the Italian Open, which was won by Tyrell Hatton.

Focus back on league after Cup

By George Welch

Oxford City

FOOTBALL League opposition may await Oxford City in the first round proper of the Emirates FA Cup, but boss Mark Jones has called for focus ahead of two important league matches.

The Hoops travel to Colchester United next month having beaten Whitehawk, Leiston and Bognor Regis Town on Saturday to reach the first round for the first time since 2011.

Jones admitted to having mixed reactions following Monday's draw, which also drew city rivals Oxford United away at League Two side Port Vale.

He said: "If you are being totally honest, it's not quite the draw we'd have handpicked, but it's a great opportunity for us to go to a League Two club.

Matt Paterson may have missed the penalty he won but made amends scoring the winning goal. Picture: Michael Allen

"It's a nice stadium and we are going to try to push and get as many supporters to come and support us on the day.

"It will certainly be a tough one, but we've got to go there and give our best and that's what we will be trying to do."

The winners will enjoy an £18,000 cash boost but before then, City, who are struggling in the bottom three of the National League South, face a trip to Hemel Hempstead Town (8th) and a home match against Concord Rovers (21st).

And Jones wants his players' minds focused on getting the club out of trouble.

"We've got to forget about the tie for the time being as we've got two very important league fixtures coming up," he said.

"We are obviously not in a good position in the league and we need to get some points on the board.

"[The FA Cup's] got to go to the back of our minds for now and concentrate on these two important league games"

City secured their place in the first round with a 1-0 win against Bognor Regis Town at Court Place Farm on Saturday.

Top scorer Matt Paterson, who missed a first half penalty, got the all-important goal on 32 minutes.

Barcelos debut goal nets Diddy victory

Evo Stik round up

DIDCOT Town got back to winning ways with an impressive 2-0 win at promotion hopefuls Evesham United on Saturday to keep their early season sights on the play-offs.

The Railwaymen included new signings Felipe Barcelos and Michael Alexis in their starting XI, the former scoring the vital second goal to secure the points.

Defender Stuart Cattell powered home an unstoppable header to give Diddy a 10th minute lead.

Things could have been even better for Town but George Reid wasted a penalty kick he had won after being tripped in the area.

The visitors continued to frustrate Evesham and slammed the door shut on any comeback as Barcelos' brilliant finish sealed a well-earned win for the Railwaymen.

There was an improved performance from North Leigh, but the west Oxfordshire side's indifferent Evo-Stik South West campaign continued with a 1-1 draw with Wimborne Town at Eynsham Park.

Tobias Holmes netted from the spot to give the away side the lead in the first half.

Leigh stopper Manny Agboola had better luck when he saved a second half penalty before Sam Mendes curled in an equaliser.

Kidlington recovered from a first half pummelling to secure a 1-1 draw away to Larkhall Athletic.

Kidlington improved after the restart and took a 69th minute lead when Darius Browne blasted home a Lance Williams cross.

But Larkhall levelled 10 minutes later thanks to a Joe Tummelty penalty after Tommy Castle brought down George King.

Elsewhere, mid-table Thame United slipped a place in the Evo-Stik South East table after a 4-2 defeat at Cambridge City. Mark West scored both United's goals.

Puritans get back to winning ways

Banbury United

A RUTHLESS 16-minute blitz against a hapless Gosport Borough put an end to Banbury United's three-match losing streak on Tuesday.

Jefferson Louis, Ravi Shamsi and Tom Bradbury all struck early on for the visiting Puritans, who ran out 4-0 winners.

Conor McDonagh netted the fourth against a pitiful Gosport side that has a solitary point to their name.

Despite the scoreline, Gosport did make the Banbury defence work hard and Matt Buse went closest for the home side.

But Mike Ford's side could have had more as Louis had an effort cleared off the line and Darren Pond struck the woodwork.

United travel to Dorchester Town (20th) on Saturday before hosting Chesham United (17th) on Tuesday.

High-flying Freds come back to earth with a bump

Hellenic round up

RED-HOT Wantage Town had their 10-match unbeaten run halted in the most abrupt fashion at Bracknell Town on Tuesday.

The Freds have been flying up the table and were in sight of the top two, helped by a thumping 5-0 win at home to Burnham on Saturday.

But, after a goalless first half against Bracknell, Ryan Markham was sent off for a late challenge on Seb Bowerman.

The visiting Freds capitulated when a man down as TJ Bohane, Joe Grant and Adam Cornell found the net to secure a 3-0 win for the home side.

It was also a night to forget for Abingdon United who extended their winless league run to seven with a 4-0 defeat to Windsor at the Northcourt.

This followed a credible 1-1 draw at home to fellow mid-table side Tuffley Rovers on Saturday. United went down to nine men but held on for a point thanks to a first half James Organ goal.

However, Oxford City Nomads got back to winning ways with an impressive 5-1 at home to Longlevens.

The Nomads goals came from Connor Mattimore (4 minutes), Liam Talboys (16), Will McEachran (31), Sami Khawaja (43) and Siyanda Gila (87).

Longlevens' consolation came from Myron Turner's first half strike when City, who are up to 14th in the Hellenic Premier League, were already 3-0 up.

OXFORD City Stars launched an all out assault to smash Invicta Mustang 14-1 at Oxpens Road on Sunday.

Man of the match Kamil Kinkor notched four goals while Matt Lawday impressed with a hat-trick and skipper Darren Elliot and Joe Edwards netted braces.

Further strikes came from Jake Florey and Joshua Oliver as Oxford ran riot.

Kenny Redmond's men were 6-0 up at the end of the first period and had reached double figures by the final third.

Stars were 12-0 up before Aaron Ferris scored Invicta's consolation on 46 minutes.

Oxford, who are up to third in the NIHL2 table, travel to Basingstoke Buffalo on Saturday.

Hard work and training pay off for skiers at championships

Rollerski

TWO Oxfordshire skiers have been crowned British champions at the British Rollerski Championships in Castle Combe, Wiltshire.

Holly Rees-Lay, 21 from Woodstock, who is part of the British Nordic development squad, claimed the senior female title after a wet but competitive weekend of racing.

Didcot's Beth Ireland, 16, matched Holly's top spot and was crowned Under-18 female British champion.

The British Rollerski Championships was the final leg of the 2017 GB Rollerski Series, with both athletes also claiming overall series wins in their categories after some stunning performances over the summer.

Both Holly and Beth will compete in Cross Country FIS races in Europe over the winter season.

As well as spending time overseas, the pair will continue with regular training sessions at Hillingdon and Redbridge cycle circuits

Neil Salmons, from the British Nordic development squad, said: "The results are really impressive and reflect the huge amount of hard work and dedication they have put into training throughout the summer.

"This stands them in very good stead for successful and exciting winter racing on snow."

A BEAMING Pep Clotet was full of praise for his players after Oxford United ground out a 1-0 win at Bristol Rovers on Saturday.

The U's made it three wins from three thanks to Alex Mowatt's first goal in United colours eight minutes from the end.

The win, which included a fifth clean sheet of the season, lifted Oxford into the play-off places.

Clotet said: "It was a fantastic performance from the boys – I have to credit them massively.

"They showed a real togetherness, ground out a result and, not only did they defend very well and manage to stop Bristol playing, we managed to put a good footballing display in."

He added: "They can play really good football but they can also play well for each other and the fans.

"They can defend results, win the ball back, play on the counter attack and deal with quality with a good style.

"We have fantastic attitude and commitment."

But United didn't have it all their way and they had to show plenty of defensive resolve against a very direct and robust side.

Man-mountain Rory Gaffney, who targeted the diminutive Ricardinho throughout, was the prime target for the Pirates, who were typically route one and dangerous in the air.

The striker, not known for his goalscoring prowess, had the ball in the net early on but the assistant referee had raised his flag.

Wes Thomas and Jack Payne went tantalisingly close before a soft Rovers back pass nearly presented Thomas with a golden opportunity, but the striker could only connect with the post instead of the ball.

Payne had the ball in the back of the net in the second half, only to be denied by the same assistant referee that chalked off Gaffney's first half effort.

All the full-blooded contest needed was a goal and with time running out it came from Mowatt, who stroked home in front of the United fans and opened his account for the U's.

Mowatt delighted to score his first goal

MATCH-WINNER Alex Mowatt relished the magic moment his first Oxford United goal earned maximum points against Bristol Rovers.

The attacking midfielder, on loan from Barnsley, calmly slotted home the only goal of the game in the 82nd minute having replaced Jack Payne 12 minutes earlier.

And he did it in front of more than 1,200 jubilant travelling U's fans.

The 22-year-old always backs himself to score so he was happy to score his first goal in Oxford colours.

He said: "It could have gone either way really but I was saying on the bench to [substitute goalkeeper] Scott Shearer that we would nick it in the end and we've done that so I'm happy.

"When I was coming on I was thinking about either creating or scoring a goal and I'm glad I've done that.

"I always back myself to score so I'm glad to get the first one out of the way."

United manager Pep Clotet applauded his squad after the hard-earned goal and win.

He said: "It was a very good counter attack…all the team worked very hard for us to create that chance and when we scored it, it was the prize and reward that the lads deserved."

Right back Christian Ribeiro and centre half John Mousinho made up half the Football League Paper's defence in its team of the week.

Women get wake up call in 4-0 cup defeat

OUFCW

OXFORD United Women made the worst possible start to their FA Continental Tyres Cup campaign in a 4-0 thumping defeat at Birmingham City Ladies.

Three second half City goals brought an abrupt end to United's unbeaten start to the 2017/18 season.

Lucy Quinn (54 minutes), Hayley Ladd (86) and Charlie Wellings (89) goals added to Freda Ayisi's first half strike (38) as the Blues made light work of the U's in the first group match last Wednesday.

Chloe Chivers was United's biggest attacking threat, but she could only force Birmingham keeper Ann Katrin-Berger into a comfortable save before unleashing an audacious 35-yard shot which dropped narrowly over the bar.

The City breakthrough came just before half time when Ayisi cheekily back-heeled the ball into the net.

Taome Oliver went close for the Yellows but the Blues doubled their lead less than 10 minutes after half time when Quinn fired past Claire Skinner.

United defender Hannah Short received a straight red on the hour for a professional foul, but the hosts had to wait until the dying minutes to make their numerical advantage count.

Ladd converted from a corner and a low Wellings finish made it 4-0 and two goals in the final four minutes for the dominant home side.

The U's also have Everton Ladies, Manchester City Women and Doncaster Rovers Belles in Group Two North.

'Wonderful opportunity' as youngster signs pro contract

YOUNGSTER Owen James has signed a professional contract with Oxford United.

The forward, who turned 17 on Friday, is a first year pro at the U's having progressed through the club's development system.

The highly-rated teenager made his debut for the youth team at the age of 14 in 2015 and has regularly found the back of the net for the Under-18s this season.

James struggled to hide his delight at signing a professional contract.

He told the club: "It's a dream come true to sign for my hometown club.

"I want to thank everyone who has helped me get this far – my parents and family and all the coaches who have had such a massive influence.

"It has been a big step up to be a scholar this season and I have seen how hard you have to work to get this chance but it is a wonderful opportunity for me and I'm determined to make the most of it."

The striker will want to follow in the footsteps of fellow academy products Josh Ruffels, Canice Carroll and Callum O'Dowda, the latter fetching United a cool £1m to £1.5m from Bristol City in the summer of 2016.

Youth team coach Leon Blackmore-Such described James as a 'hard working' and 'clever' player, adding: "Now it is up to him to listen to advice, keep learning, and keep making progress.

"He has such a positive attitude that I am sure he will do very well."

Volley good show nets United valuable point

By George Welch

Oxford United 1

Christian Ribeiro 35

Charlton Athletic 1

Tarique Fosu 18

Attendance: 7,070 (689 away)

CHRISTIAN Ribeiro's stunning first goal for the club earned Oxford United a 1-1 draw against fellow play-off hopefuls Charlton Athletic on Tuesday night.

The right back popped up to smash home a fantastic left footed volley into the far corner to level the scores 10 minutes before half time.

The strike cancelled out a sixth goal in four matches for Tarique Fosu, who gave the away side the lead when a defensive error presented him with an empty net midway through the first half.

Josh Ruffels pinged harmlessly wide with the first chance of the game, but it was winger Fosu who impressed early on as Oxford initially struggled to get near their west London visitors.

The livewire fired wide on 17 minutes after twisting and turning in United's box following a neat Charlton move down the right.

The 21-year-old had more of a say a minute later when he charged down a Curtis Nelson clearance, beat U's keeper Simon Eastwood to the loose ball and fired into an empty net to put the Addicts ahead.

The U's fans chanted and rallied behind their team, who struggled with Charlton's quality early on, and the men in yellow responded by levelling the scores 10 minutes before half time.

A James Henry cross was headed away to Ribeiro, who almost looked shocked when he planted the ball in the back of the net.

Sixty seconds later and a delicious curler from Ruffels was inches away from giving the hosts the lead.

Wes Thomas fluffed wide before a Ricardinho piledriver was somehow kept out by a combination of Ben Amos and Jake Forster-Caskey as the U's enjoyed their best spell just before half time.

Twinkle toes Jack Payne led the charge in the second half as he danced through a crowd of red bodies, only to skew wide when he got his shot away.

Both sides continued to create chances in the second half, which was equally as entertaining as the first.

Holmes (twice), Josh Magennis (twice) and Billy Clarke went close for Karl Robinson's side while, at the other end, Thomas saw a header from the edge of the area pushed behind.

Oxford pressed for a winner and substitute Jon Obika forced Amos into a low save with a long-range effort before Ricardinho went close with a rising drive in the last minute.

Reflecting on the game, U's manager Pep Clotet felt a point was a fair result.

He said: "Both teams showed a really good level of football. It's a fair result. Anything could have happened and I think both will be happy with a point."

The Spaniard was impressed by a 'strong' Charlton side, who look to have clicked under Robinson's stewardship this year. He added: "We know they're in a position they deserve to be in for the size of the club and the quality of the players.

"Ourselves, we are very focused going game by game and building to get better and try to play football our fans can be proud of.

"Eventually we'll see how far we can go. It's only our second season in League One so we'll go step by step."

'Have faith – my left foot's not just for standing on'

CHRISTIAN Ribeiro believes Oxford United's 1-1 draw with Charlton Athletic showed the best of what English football's third tier has to offer.

The full back scored his first goal in Oxford colours, 16 months after joining the club on a free from Exeter City.

His stunning volley rescued a point for the U's in what was an entertaining League One game at the Kassam Stadium.

He said: "I can't believe nobody's got any faith in me – that left foot's not just for standing on, honestly!

"It was one of those things, it just landed to me at the time, but more importantly it was at a good time in the game to get back into it."

Both sides played some neat football, a stark contrast from the test posed by Bristol Rovers on Saturday.

Welshman Ribeiro, who scored on his 14th game for the club, said: "For the first 20 minutes we were on the ropes a little bit and they were a really good side.

"I was really impressed by Charlton. They're going to be a top-four side this year – the best we've played.

"We were sluggish at the start for some reason but it was a good time to get back to 1-1 and the rest of the game was a good, even battle with both teams going for it. It was a really good game – a good advert for League One."

Both teams remain in the play-offs and United host Rotherham United on Saturday.

■ Oxford United have drawn an away tie in the first round of the FA Cup with League Two side Port Vale who are just above the relegation zone. The match is due to be played between November 3 and 6.
